GOOD NEWS STORY: EMERGING STAR JOSH MCGOVERN

He's an emerging star in softball and AFL, but double-play doesn't do Josh McGovern's story justice - this 16-year-old has a lot more on his plate.

Named the most valuable player at the national under-17 softball championships, McGovern is aiming to make the final cut to represent Australia at the world championships in Canada in June.

But as soon as the softball wraps up, McGovern will trial with the under-18 NSW-ACT Rams, hoping to step up after a year playing with the Greater Western Sydney development squad.

The teenager is hoping to debut in the NEAFL with the Queanbeyan Tigers this season too, but has already been selected to compete in the ACT men's softball squad that will defend their national title in Perth in March.

"I'm happy to play both, but there'll be a time, when I'm older, I'll have to pick," McGovern says.

McGovern relocated from Marist College to Erindale College, which offers him the chance to develop his AFL through the school's Talented Sports Program.

"I thought the AFL would be more beneficial for me," said McGovern, who started following North Melbourne when it began playing home games at Manuka. "There's more of a career in AFL than softball, so that's where I'd like to go, but I'll have to wait and see."

NOTE FROM THE CHAPLAIN

"It is 2014". What as the first thought that comes into your head and heart when you read that?

Dread: there is so much to do; how will I manage with all that is going on?
Excitement: there is so much to learn; no matter what comes I'll get it done!

No matter which way you answered, there will be times that talking with someone else can help clarify your situation. As your chaplain, I have the time to sit and chat. You can leave a message on my answering machine ph: 62058138 Or my email Deirdre.Herrmann@ed.act.edu.au or leave a note under my door 😊
I work Tuesdays and Wednesdays and I look forward to getting to know you.
